Pages for a Natrative of the New Orleans Mackacace.

From the N. O. Tribute.

On Sanday evening the police received their revolvers. They were, it is said, new piscols, in revolvers. They were, it is said, new piscols, in revolvers of the lorce, and perhaps aff, received two revolvers ched, for when they came charging along Baroome street they had revolvers in both binds.

Orders were given to the night watchmen to go to rust on Sanday at 12 o'clock, and to be on hand on Monday at 6 o'clock as m. They were to four small squads and remain he readiness at distant parts of the city.

At noon, the various bells of the city struckons stroke, which was a preconcerted a signal to make and to attack. A part at least of this plan is made to aspect very clearly by the following extraction the French part of The Bee of August 1: "All the gaurds had been posted in the vicinity of the objective point, where they marched ones had a sended." The term "objective point, it prefers to an olfensive action.

An apped was also made by the Mayor, through a public proclumation to the clairens, for what was called "special constables." met together in New Orleans.

The preparation of the Mayor wen completed by orderling the day watchmen to keep in availments, not at their respective stations, but at the First and Second Stations only. The noon hell was the signal for the night watchmen to concentrate. The 12 bells that they were to strike at any time during the fray was the signal for the charge of the treatre police. This charge was despicate and break not believe to the street with the street worth of the treatre police. This charge was despicate and break not be been they and to the street. We will, another time, give a few factions of the horized seemes purpotated on the street. We will, another time, give a few factions of the horized seemes purpotated on the street. We will, another intended to the fall. He fell. Another policeman came up and shot at him lour or five times after he was down. He was then dranged, alternately by the hair and feet, and thrown on a pile of dead bodies. His body, in appearance filedes, was afterward carried the police station-house, and thrown away as a corpac. Some ladies who came there to bring isostatunee to the sufferers found, however, that he was still after. They had him temoed from among the dent and cared four. He is to-day in the "lattet Ole," with full intelectual powers, with the a very eritial condition.

On Baroome street a number of horrible minders were committed. Several black men were shot when taken into custody by the police officers. A black man who is in through the street was killed by a bullet inon behind; and so were a minder of others. A colored man, who escaped through a window, was riddled with bullets, and then burtibly heaten. One who had taken reduge under a pile of lumber was shot at through the boards till be was killed. A black man, who had probably escaped from the makind building through the adapting ards, was shot of the burden and didner a while a white wanner and threw a stone on the head of the dead man.

All this time the white boys were shouting and enying "Hinradi" Boys, however, were also murdered in cold blood. But they were black boys. Two of them were thanged out of a street car by two police officers and shot. Two colored men, who were in the same car, were also murdered by these policenent. The assembling of the Convention ternished the opportunity. Suppose that assembling was fillegal or fregular, it could be stopped by proceedings of law. There was no use to have recourse to assassing. No proceeding whose members were quietly sitting in the laft, or from the attendance. The Times itself, speaking of the origin of the 10th, acknowledges that the flist policeman who made a tush among the colored procession acted on a wrong impression. That journal says. MEETING AT HARRISBURG.

Speech of Governor Hamilton, of Texas-HARRISBURG, August 1.

At very brief notice a large and enthusiasticanticaco of Republicus assembled in the Court Homse this exeming, to hear an address from ex-Governor Hamilton, of Texas. During the maceting it was announced that the Soldier's Geary Clab, forming in Harrisburg, had otherhold over three bundred mause. After the meeting a large additional number signed the rolls of the club.

Hon. Simon Cameron presided. He said he was glad to see so many people present on so short a notice. He counseled energetic nection. He pronounced President Johnson a bad man, batthless to his promises and an enemy to his country. The question was, if poor and honest integroes should be mardered in eoil blood after the relegion, and whether a handful of white men in South Carolina should east the votes of the nergioes who were inexperienced. Every leading traiter should be made offore. Her histodicaed Governor Hamilton, who said subsumitably that lour years of war to suppress a wicked teletion has resulted in fivo of the Government. It was hoped that after the year to be the continuous of the country to-day, it is hard to judge how the work as the continuous the continuous of the country to-day, it is hard to judge how the war Las been settled. It is usedes to recall his namy partion professions; either we have the pulley changed since then, or he has. The time was when there was no difference of a plain in the Republican purpy, except among a lew slekty southmentalists, in regard to the disposition made of leading conscious rebels, among a lew slekty southmentalists, in regard to the disposition made of leading conscious rebels, among a lew slekty southmentalists, in regard to the disposition made of leading conscious rebels, among at President agreed with us. It was scarcely expected that no example would be made. Look at President's Johnson's declarations in this connection. Our opponents intend to ring the changes on the charge that the Republican party is pur excellence a negro suffrage party; the charge is not true. It is a party in his or of liberty for all. [Cheera,] I repuddate the idea that this is a white man's dovernment, without respect to color, and the black man is included.

The President promised to be the Moses of the negro, but it seems be did not get so far as his ammessite. Ho dut not lead his negro ficind quite to the lead of Camen. We have the intelligence to-day liest the Union men in New Orleans by the true the teaches to the result the STEAMER EMPARSS, Down the St. Lawrence Friday, August 3, 1856. I see your namesake, the Montreal Herald, has an illustrative cut at the head of its columns which well represents the offices of a newspaper. It exhibits a winged herald with a trumpet in its lips delivering a Latin motto from Ovid, which being Englishized, reads: "I enchain attention coming more popular, is attested by New England is the great bee-hive from which the swarms of emigration of her native popula tion have moved westward and settled beyond the Ohio to the boundaries of our continent. The rather experiences, of the lake and river route, combine to give it a superior interest.

I would not advise any one to rely too implicitly upon guide books. For instance, it is stated that the take boats go up the Genesee River several, miles, and that passengers take omnibuses from the landing to Rochester, several miles up the river, whereas a radicated runs to the mouth of the Genesee, and steamboats do not ascend the Genesco any longer.

Another instance shows how these guide books ized in all respects. The American Express line contains three lake and two river boats. The former ply between Lewiston and Ogdensburg, stopping at Toronto, Kingston and Brockville on the Canada side, and at Rochester, Oswego, Clayton, Alexandria Esty, and other points on the American side, making the round trip in one of the oldest, stanneliest and most elegant boats of the line, under the command of one of the most popular and experienced of officers this boat for the past eight years, meeting with

Nothing can be a more agreeable sensation or feeling than salling on the magnificent bosom of Lake Ontario on a beautiful summer night, but it did not on this occasion be its usual placid aspect. The wind blew a gale and the waves run very high, and the vessel pitched and rolled in a measure that suggested Irightful images of shipwreek to the timid, espechilly after we came out of the harbor of Uswego and began to cross the lake to Kingston in the night. Not a few of the passengers, more ally of the female persuasion, had a very bilious time of it. But the danger was more lunginary than real, and the nausea of the night gave a keener appetite for an excellent breakfast. The promenade deck was crowded with spectators in the morning as we drew near to Kings Fort frame upon the promontory and whose spires and roofs glittered in the

He has been rustlenting here for a while, and had not slept for weeks under a roof.

At Ogdensgburg we changed boats, taking pas sage in the Empress, Capt. W. A. Charlesbois This is a much smaller boat, and specially adapted to the navigation of the rapids. The lake had been so rough that it was two hours behind the regular time, and it was feared that it would be dark before we reached the most dangerous rap- Bollows, of Petroleum Centre, has so'd the Roch lds, and that we would be obliged to take the canal route. Capt. Charlebola resolved, however not to disappoint the expectations of the company from viewing this most wonderful of sights, and eight o'clock when we made our perilous de nine miles long, divided in the centre by an island. The passage is very narrow, and the velocity of the current is such that a ratt, it is will drift nine miles in forty minutes. The stream here rushes at the rate of something like twenty miles an hour, and the steam is shut off, and the boat carried along by the force of the eurrent alone. It requires the enormous strength of four men to turn the wheel and guide the rudder. The wheel house is over the first eable, and in front of it sits the pilot with the Captain Standing beside him, and you can imagine how anxiously every eye turns from the surging waves to other countenances to see if they curn prehend the situation exactly and are equal to the emergency; while the boat strains and creaks in all her timbers, the waves speak over her, of great advantage to their leastifulies. current alone. A few miles below we came upon the La Chine Rapids, and at the enteance lies the Indian town the shore, and the Indian pilot clambered up the steamer's side and took his position at the wheel. There was quite a sensation among the passenrers, as the sun had set, but the pilot caw the sky was light in the North, and said he could take the bont through in safety. The insurance policy of the boat requires that no pilot but this Indian shall navigate these rapids, and he certainly seemed conscious of the responsibility and risk he asnuned; though for ten years he has followed this vocation, he seemed as much concerned and as vigilant as any one. I don't suppose a word was spoken by a soul after we passed into the swiften currents, and began our career through the scething waves and amid the treachurous rocks Many minutes clapsed before we could say it was all over, the danger was past, and could exchange congratulations over the deliverance from the jaws of destruction. It was a pleasing fear, a glo rious experience, cheaply purchased by the risk we run, which considering the lateness of the hour was considerable.

The pilots of this (American) time of steamers have, however, never lost a hoat or passenger. cannot speak (oo highly of the management of this boat or of Capt. All the officers of this line send greeting to Charley Morse, the coal dealer of Titusville, and trust that his shadow may never grow less, and that he may "strike ile."

Having arrived at Montreal, I must close these brief notes. More mass.

Roberts' Tornedo.

Captain Jesse H. Lord, Editor-in-chief of the Scientific American, and lately connected with the Eric Dispatch, in a letter to the latter paper says: "I have seen in the Dispatch some notices of the Roberts' Potroleum Torpedo. I had an opportunity a year ago hast winter to become omewhat acquainted with its results. Latterij I have been compelled, in the way of busines to inform myseli minutely of its advantages, and from investigations I have made, I am convinced That no device for proenting petroleum lats yet been introduced to ori men which is of more benefft. The value of petroleum in a commercia point of view can be seen by the following statement, which I have drawn from sources the m thority of which cannot be questioned. Th value of the petroleum produced in the United States, excluding all its manufactures and products, was for 1862, $14,670,358,55; 1863, $38,610, 000.43; 1864, $57,268,458.02; 1865, $77,079,605.71. Most of the vast aggregate was produced by Pennsylvania. Without referring to individual instances of increased production by the use o this tornedo, or to the fact that "dry holes" have been made productive by it, a single significant fact will prove its value. From data, the tests of armal facts, the product of the Pennsylvania oil region has been increased by the use of the Roberts Torpedo in sixty days to a ratio of $1,440,000 Notwithstanding the fact that, as soon per year. as Colonel Roberts made his plan public, a num ber of chimants arose to deprive him of the hon or and advantages of priority of discovery, his engages is now trirly assured by the recent decis ion in his favor, and some of the heaviest oil companies in this city have interested themselves in the matter, and every infringement of his patcut will be prosecuted. In the success of this on terprise a large number of the readers of you is the rebuting fishmon on the question of daily production:

The aggregate production of the wells at this point, reported in last Monday's paper, Rouss upmore than 50 barvels per day. The production of the following wells was not mentioned: No. 93, Holmdon Farm, yielding sixty barrels per day; No. 74, ten barrels, No. 150, one fundred and flay barrels per day. This dors not include No. 46, on the hunt district of the same farm, which is now pumping sixty barrels per day. Since Monday the Burtis well, Morey Farm, has started up again, and is pumping 100 barrels; and No. 105, on the same farm, which is to the production reported tast Monday, and it is shown a yield of 1,265 barrels per day. Add this to the production reported tast Monday, and it is shown a yield of 1,265 barrels per day. This includes only two wells on the burnt district, Nos. 42 and 46. This is an under estimate of what the oil territory of Pithole is actually producing wells, doing from the to thirty barrels per day each, which we have not taken into account.

Here is certainly a very good "show," Our correspondents are advised not to go back on Pithole while she maintains so enviable :

SOMETHING FOR THE LADIES.-Colored starch is the latest and greatest novelty of the season. It is made in pink, buff, the new mouve, and a delicate green and blue will soon be produced. Any article starched with the new preparation is completely colored—dyed we should have said, but as it washes out, and the garment that was pink to-day may be green to-morrow, and bull afterwards, we can hardly say "dyed." It is intended especially for those bright but treacherously colored muslins, that are costly, wash out and perplex their owners. If the pattern has been manye they only need the manye starch; if green; green starch; and they can be rendered one even and preffy shade, thus becoming not only wearable again, but very stylish. While anti-magassars or face curtains may also be colured in the same way, and infinite variety

To see two or three hundred, nostly young men, standing promisenously in Exchange Hall, all more or less ex cited; and at times many of them with hands uplifted making violent gestures, and shouting at the top of their voices, reminded me of an animated scene at camp-meeting, except that the levotions in this instance seemed wholly consecrated to Mammon. Each man is gen vender of his own stock wares, and in case a number happen to have the spirit move at the same time, then it is, that huge tungs and wind is triumphant. PERIODEUM MARKETS. Tiresyllin, August 6

The periodeniu markets are on the decline. We heard of a few sates both in Pithole and on the creek at $3.50. Most of the highes, however, were holding oil. The decline in the Kastera markets for the last two days is, in the opinion of most operators, an indication that the corner is on the turn. Harrels continue scarce, being worth $2.00 in New York, but a large amount at larrelted oil is on the way, and about to be shipped from here. Whatever the cause of this rise may have been many of the producers have been benefited by it, as they were enabled to sell out their oil at from one to two oldiars per barrel profit, over and above what they expected. They can own afford to hold until the commencement of the fail trads. Others who held on too one, afraid that the market may subdenly relapse to its The netrolemu markets are on the decline. I do not know that I shall be able to comply with this very sound advice, for it is rather casual and hasty impres sions that one derives from a flying trip by steam which depend or sail, that accurate observation which depend apon time and leisure. There is such a monotony in railroad travel, and so much of the discomfort of heat and dust about it in summer, that when the traveler can reach his destination by locomotion, unless there is great urgency in his business it seems to be far prefera-ble. And of all the routes to the East none can compare in its kind and variety of attractions with that of a passage down take Ontarlo and river St. Lawrence, and that it is every season bethat one meets with at every stage of the journey.

These considerations, together with the pie turesque scenery, and the exciting adventures, or
